Mother's Day 2022

NSS and Cultural Committee

Mother's Day is observed in India on the second Sunday of May. It will be celebrated this year on Sunday, May 8. On this day, we honour our moms and express our love and gratitude to them, though the date varies where you're from.

No one can ever replace her. A classic remark by Oliver Wendell Holmes sums up the eternal relevance of a mother: "Youth fades; love droops; the leaves of friendship fall; a mother's inner hope outlives them all."

AIMT students recently celebrated Mother's Day on campus. Students used the opportunity to thank their mothers for their unconditional love through poem recitation, dance, singing, and personalized videos showing their memorable moments with their mothers. A poster-making competition was also conducted, where students displayed their beautiful e-posters depicting the mother's love and affection. It was lovely to see the teachers witnessing all of this with kind smiles on their faces. Director AIMT, Comd. JK Sahu, elaborated on the history of Mother's Day and also told students to respect their mother and always seek suggestions from their mother, as she is a first teacher.

The relationship between a mother and her children is so special that both children and their mothers treasure it forever. One day is inadequate to honour mom, and we should celebrate every day as if it were Mother's Day to demonstrate our appreciation for our mothers. Every day, we should thank our mothers for all the tiny things they do for us. The love and respect of her children are the most precious gifts a woman can get. So let us make every day special for our mothers and fill her days with warmth and happiness.
